PRESS RELEASE

Kemistry Gallery is pleased to announce their latest exhibition –

First impressions last (23 Oct—22 Nov 2008)

If someone met you for just two minutes, what would they say about you?

In a time of personal image consultants, constant scrutiny and ever multiplying subcultures, we carefully craft our outward appearances for friends and strangers alike: first impressions last.

Part performance-piece, part exhibition, part guessing-game; Kemistry Gallery and Fallon London have collaborated to challenge your self-image. We invite you to have your portrait written by five diverse people: from a rapper to a romance novelist.

What will they think of you and how will they differ in opinion? How well do you know yourself: would you be able to identify the five different versions of yourself on a wall of others?

The exhibition will comprise the following:

-Part One (23 Oct—1 Nov)

Visit the gallery; have your portrait written.

Opening Hours:
Mon–Fri 12.00–6.00
Saturday 12.00–4.00

Admission: Free

-Part Two (3–22 Nov)

Return to the gallery for the written portrait exhibition and try and find the five that describe you.

There will also be an evening event at the gallery for all participants and their friends to see what has been written.

Opening Hours:
Mon–Fri 9.30–6.00
Saturday 11.00–4.00

Admission: Free

About Kemistry Gallery:

Kemistry Gallery is an independent design gallery dedicated to exhibiting the work of outstanding designers both past, present and upcoming. Kemistry Gallery is the only independent gallery doing so in the UK at the present time; it exists as a one-off, having built up a far-reaching and highly respected reputation for showcasing many talented designers and promoting design to a wider audience. We aim to make design accessible to an audience that might otherwise overlook or undervalue its importance next to disciplines such as fine art or photography.
